RELIGIOUS AND CULTURAL OBSERVANCES

The NCCJ Calendar is a resource designed to encourage public awareness of the great mixture of religious and ethnic groups that live in our community. However, because of the large number of religious, ethnic and cultural groups who reside in the United States, this resource cannot provide an exhaustive list for all of our faith traditions.

Many people may find the calendar helpful as it identifies opportunities for discussion about different religious and faith practices. It also serves as a reminder of those religious observances that many may wish to attend, and therefore can aid in the planning and scheduling of events and meetings.

Some Civic holidays and other well known celebrations are not included.

ADDITIONAL NOTES

All dates of holidays and festivals were researched to the best of our abilities. Some dates may vary depending on region and group affiliation.

Baha'i, Jewish and Muslim holidays begin at sunset on the evening before date listed.

Buddhist, Hindu and Sikh holidays may be observed at different times than those indicated here. The observance date is dependent on both religious group affiliation and region. For example, Buddha's birthday is one of the most widely celebrated of Buddhist holidays. However, there is no one date accepted by all Buddhists. Therefore, the observance of Buddha's birthday will vary, as seen by the inclusion of Wesak, Bodhi Day and Buddha Day in this calendar.

Christians also follow a number of different calendars depending on their denomination and/or region. The NCCJ Calendar includes dates for the Western calendar which is mostly followed by the Roman Catholic and Protestant churches and the dates for the Orthodox New Calendar which is the same as the Western calendar for fixed holidays and observances but uses the Julian calendar for moveable feasts. The Orthodox New Calendar is primarily used by the Greek and Cypriot Orthodox Churches.

We recognize that for many Christians, an integral part of the faith is the observance of days that commemorate the lives of saints. Many of these days have not been included as part of this calendar because they are vast in number and often differ by region, religious affiliation and personal belief.

Jewish dates in this calendar are generally in accordance with the Orthodox tradition. The length of some holidays and the extent to which they are observed may vary according to denominational affiliation.

Muslim holidays are subject to change because observance is dictated by the phases and sightings of the moon.

The Sikh calendar — their own Nanakshahi calendar— was adopted for use on March 14, 1999 and aligns with the Gregorian Calendar.
